

Lunch & Learn

You Are Cordially Invited to First Children Services' Professional Development Lunch and Learn:

“What did I miss? Childhood Trauma and Its Effects on Attendance”

Presented by Susan Goldman, M.Ed., Director of Community Educational Services, First Children Services

Ms. Goldman will be presenting on the topics of recognizing the signs of trauma, making school a safe place, and developing a toolkit to respond to trauma in the classroom.

Wednesday, October 30, 2019
12:00pm-1:30pm

Sakura Springs in Heritage Square
1871 Marlton Pike East • Cherry Hill, NJ 08003

This is a FREE event. Attendees will receive a professional development certificate.

Susan Goldman is Director of Community Educational Services supervising and recruiting for First Children's school staffing and home instruction services. Susan received a Bachelor of Arts in Education and History at Monmouth University. Susan has served as a middle school teacher of mathematics. In addition to her teaching responsibilities, Susan wore many hats as a mentor, staff developer, teacher leader, peer coach, student council, and peer to peer adviser. She earned her Master of Arts in Educational Leadership from Kean University and subsequently held positions in supervision and math coaching/consulting. Her experiences and qualifications allow her to effectively recruit and supervise highly qualified teachers and staff for the First Children's many programs. Susan also oversees and conducts successful educational programs throughout the state of NJ.

Please register at <https://fcslunchandlearn10-30-19.eventbrite.com>
by October 25, 2019.

www.firstchildrenservices.com

Contact Sonia Cohen at 856-888-1097 ext. 304 or scohen@firstchildrenservices.com for more information.

